

IANPHI Europe Spring Meeting 2022 – Agenda

Preparing for and responding to crises: What role for National Public Health Institutes?

Venue: Olympia Hotel - Radisson Blu Hotel Olümpia Tallinn

Hotel WiFi: “Radisson guest”. No password needed

Day 1 - Thursday, 19 May
9.00 – 9.30	Participants registration	Hotel lobby
10.00 - 12.00 (EEST, Tallinn time)	Session 1 – Opening session
10.00 – 11.00	Welcome from host Director Ms. Annika Veimer, Director, National Institute for Health Development, Estonia Welcome from Minister of Health and Labour of Estonia Mr. Tanel Kiik, Minister of Health and Labour, Estonia Welcome from IANPHI President Prof. Duncan Selbie, IANPHI President IANPHI Europe Update Dr. Trygve Ottersen, IANPHI Europe Chair, Norway Keynote from WHO Europe Dr. Gerald Rockenschaub, Regional Emergency Director, WHO Regional Office for Europe	Conference room “Alfa”
11.00 – 11.15	Coffee break	Hotel lobby
11.15 – 12.00	Address from representative for Ukraine Dr. Ihor Kuzin, Deputy Minister of Health, Ukraine Dr. Oleksandr Matskov, Deputy Director, Public Health Centre, Ukraine Public health implications of collective violence – setting the context for the meeting Prof. Mark Bellis, Director of Policy and International Health, Public Health Wales, United Kingdom Questions and discussion from the floor	Conference room “Alfa”
12.00 - 13.30	Group Picture & Lunch	Hotel restaurant

13.30 - 15.30 (EEST, Tallinn time)	Session 2, part 1 – The war in Ukraine and its impacts
13.30 – 14.30	What are the urgent tasks and needs of a NPHI during war and conflict? Dr. Jarno Habicht, WHO Head of Country Office in Ukraine What is the role of a NPHI when a country receives very many refugees? Dr. Grzegorz Juszczuk, Director, National Institute of Public Health, Poland Early reflections on the IANPHI mission to Poland Dr. Fu-Meng Khaw, National Director, Health Protection and Screening, Public Health Wales	Conference room “Alfa”
14.30 – 14.45	Coffee break	Hotel lobby
14.45 – 15.30	How can NPHI best support each other and international partners during crises? Dr. Bjorn Iversen, Senior Medical Officer, Norwegian Institute of Public Health, Norway How can NPHIs be best prepared for conflicts? Mr. George Leahy, Deputy Director for Europe &amp; ECDC, United Kingdom Health Security Agency, United Kingdom Facilitated discussion Session 2 part 1 chaired by Ms. Annika Veimer, Director, National Institute for Health Development, Estonia &amp; Zoom photo	Conference room “Alfa”
15.30 – 16.00	Coffee break	Hotel lobby
16.00 - 17.00 (EEST, Tallinn time)	Session 2, part 2 – The future of health threats preparedness
16.00 – 17.00	Dr. Stefan Schreck, Head of unit, Health and Food Safety (DG SANTE), European Commission, Belgium Session 2 part 2 moderated by Dr. Anne-Catherine Viso, IANPHI Secretary-General	Conference room “Alfa”
17.00 – 18.30	Break
18.30	Bus transfer from the hotel to social dinner (20-minute drive)	Hotel lobby
19.00	Social dinner at Lore, Noblessner	Restaurant Lore, Noblessner
Day 2 - Friday, 20 May
10.00 - 12.00 (EEST, Tallinn time)	Session 3 – What has COVID-19 taught NPHIs?
10.00 – 11.00	Strengthening information on health impacts Prof. Hans Brug, Director, National Institute for Public Health and the Environment, The Netherlands The interface between NPHIs and the public: to what extent can NPHIs communicate independently from its government? Prof. Lothar H. Wieler, Director, Robert Koch Institute, Germany The interface between NPHIs and knowledge production, the link between research and policy advice, and the link to academia and health care services	Conference room “Alfa”

	Dr. Markku Tervahauta, Director, National Institute for Health and Welfare, Finland Dr. John Middleton, President, Association of Schools of Public Health in the European Region, ASPHER, Belgium
11.00 – 11.15	Coffee break	Hotel lobby
11.15 – 12.00	The interface between NPHIs and politics, can and should the two be separated? Prof. Silvio Brusaferro, President, Istituto Superiore di Sanità, Italy  Facilitated discussion  Launch of the COVID-19 Lessons Learned Report of IANPHI Dr. Jean-Claude Desenclos, IANPHI Strategic Adviser Dr. Quentin Sandifer, IANPHI Strategic Adviser  Session 3 chaired by Prof. Geneviève Chêne, Director, Santé publique France, France	Conference room “Alfa”
12.00 – 13.30	Lunch break	Hotel restaurant
13.30 - 15.30 (EEST, Tallinn time)	Session 4 - Preparing for future crises
13.30 – 14.30	The final session continues the previous discussions and looks ahead to consider the transformative ways in which NPHIs might need to change to be more effective responders to crises, and asks what roles they should and could perform. It will also look at the wider opportunities for NPHIs to engage in public policy as key public health agencies in preparing for and responding to future crises.  NPHIs in the future Dr. Andrea Ammon, Director, European Centre for Disease Prevention and Control, ECDC Prof. Amanda Shriwise, Consultant, World Health Organization, currently based in the Venice Office for Investment for Health and Development Dr. Camilla Stoltenberg, Director, Norwegian Institute of Public Health, Norway  Session 4 chaired by Dr. Trygve Ottersen &amp; Dr. Quentin Sandifer	Conference room “Alfa”
14.30 – 14.45	Coffee break	Hotel lobby
14.45 – 15.30	Facilitated discussion  Closing remarks Prof. Duncan Selbie, IANPHI President Dr. Trygve Ottersen, IANPHI Europe Network Chair	Conference room “Alfa”
15.30	Final celebrating snack	Hotel lobby